1. Claims 1-29 are presented for examination.
2. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.
3. The drawings filed on 4/2/04 are acceptable by the examiner. However, direct any inquiries concerning drawing review by the USPTO draftsman to the Drawing Review Branch at (703) 305-8404.
4. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed. The examiner believes that the title of the invention is broad. A descriptive title indicative of the invention will help in proper indexing, classifying, searching, etc. See MPEP 606.01. However, the title of the invention should be limited to 500 characters.
5. The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification. Furthermore, all claims should be revised carefully to eliminate all grammatical errors and antecedent basis problems.
6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:
A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
7. Claims 1-4 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent 5,754,789 granted to Nowatzky et al.

As per claim 1, the reference of Nowatzky et al. teaches, "a first processor" in Fig. 2, element 21; "a first serial/parallel data transformer comprising a parallel port and a serial port; a second serial/parallel data transformer comprising a parallel port and a serial port” in Fig. 3(a) and col. 5, lines 55-59; “a control unit for selectively connecting in an electrical fashion the first processor to the parallel port of the first serial/parallel data ...” (lines 9-16) in Fig. 4; Fig. 5, element 29 and col. 5, line 65 – col. 6, line 11.

As per claim 2, the reference of Nowatzky et al. teaches “a serial device electrically connected to the serial port of the first serial/parallel data transformer” in Fig.1.

As per claim 3, the reference of Nowatzky teaches the added limitations of the claim in col. 6, lines 8-11.

As per claim 4, the claim is rejected for similar reasons as discussed in the rejection of claim 1 with the exception of “a second processor electrically connected to the parallel port of the second serial/parallel data transformer”. However, the reference of Nowatzky inherently teaches the feature in Fig. 4, elements B-E.

As per claim 18, the limitations of the claim are subset of claim 1 above.
Therefore, the rejection of claim 1 also applies in this claim.

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2111

9. Claims 5-17 and 19-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent 5,754,789 granted to Nowatzky et al. in view of common knowledge in the art.

As per claims dependent claims 5-17, the claims recite various diverse limitations such as "first processor has an operational voltage equal to that of the second processor" (claim 5), "first processor has an operational voltage different from that of the second processor" (claim 6), etc. However, the examiner takes Official Notice that the extra features claimed in claims 5-17 are well known in the data communication art at the time of the invention. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the data communication art at the time the invention was made to implement the above features in the system of Nowatzky et al. to obtain the claimed invention as claimed in claims 5-17 because these are straightforward possibilities from which one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made would select in accordance with circumstances without the exercise of inventive skill so as to allow the system to be compatible with a widely used standard and to take advantage of the many benefits provided by those features.

As per dependent claims 19-29, the added limitations of the claims are same as claims 7-17 respectively. Therefore the rejection of claims 7-17 discussed above is also applicable to claims 19-29.

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Applicant is urged to consider the references. However, the references should be evaluated by what they suggest to one versed in the art, rather than by their specific disclosure. The prior art submitted by applicant has been considered by the examiner and made of record in the file.

If applicants are aware of any better prior art than those are of record, they are required to bring the prior art to the attention of the examiner. Applicants are also reminded that each individual associated with the filing and prosecution of a patent application has a duty of candor and good faith in dealing with the Office, which includes a duty to disclose to the Office all information known to that individual to be material to patentability as defined in 37 CFR 1.56. Applicants are advised to submit any information material to patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.

11. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Gopal C. Ray whose telephone number is (571) 272-3631. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday - Friday from 8:00 AM - 4:30 PM.
